New Nationwide Network of Healthcare Workers Launches Campaign to Protect IVF Access in All 50 States in Wake of Alabama Supreme Court Decision

Cleveland, Ohio – 3/12/24 – In response to the February 16, 2024 Alabama Supreme Court ruling that potentially jeopardizes access to in vitro fertilization (IVF) treatments, medical professionals from across the country have banded together to fight the growing tide of government interference in reproductive healthcare.

The new network –Healthcare Workers for Reproductive Freedom (HWRF)– formed as multiple grassroots medical provider-led groups joined forces, including Ohio Physicians for Reproductive Rights (OPRR), Campaign for a Healthy Nebraska, Iowans for Health Liberty, The Good Trouble Coalition Indiana, Missouri Healthcare Professionals for Reproductive Rights, Idaho Coalition for Safe Healthcare, Nurses for America, and others. Leaders of these state-based groups inspired a surge of individual healthcare workers to sign a letter urging policymakers to safeguard IVF, which offers hope and fulfillment to countless families grappling with infertility.

This statement received 2,150 signatures of healthcare workers in just a few days from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the national American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG), and 10 state ACOG sections including Indiana, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Georgia, South Dakota, Idaho, New Mexico, Delaware and New Jersey.

“In the face of policies that threaten the very core of reproductive freedom, physicians and healthcare workers are unwavering in our commitment to defend access to IVF and all forms of reproductive healthcare. This isn't just about medical procedures; it's about safeguarding the right to family, the dignity of choice, and the sanctity of the provider-patient relationship,” said Dr. Marcela Azevedo, President of Ohio Physicians for Reproductive Rights, and one of the leaders of this new national movement.

Dr. Azevedo continued, “As medical professionals, it is our duty to protect and advocate for the health and rights of our patients. The recent rulings jeopardizing access to IVF challenges the very essence of our commitment. Together, we raise our voices to ensure that personal health decisions remain in the hands of patients and their healthcare providers, free from the interference of misguided political agendas. We call upon medical professionals everywhere to join us in this fight for the sake of our patients today and the generations of families to come."

Medical professionals, including nurses, doctors, social workers, and others are encouraged to join HWRF in this crucial fight and can sign the statement here.

Medical groups and societies may add their names here.

All supporters of the Save IVF campaign can donate to HWRF through the OPRR website here.

Ohio Physicians for Reproductive Rights (OPRR) is a non-partisan coalition of thousands of medical professionals and advocates committed to upholding and expanding access to safe, legal, equitable, and comprehensive reproductive health care for all Ohioans, while fiercely protecting patients' right to make their own reproductive healthcare decisions, free from government interference. OPRR initiated and were leaders in the successful campaign to protect reproductive freedom in Ohio's constitution in 2023.

Campaign for a Healthy Nebraska was established by 8 local ob-gyn physicians committed to supporting and providing reproductive healthcare to the people of Nebraska. The movement has evolved to include hundreds of healthcare professionals and citizens from across the state whose goal is educating and lobbying legislators to decriminalize healthcare, allow for the practice of evidence-based medicine, and protect the sanctity of the physician/patient relationship.

Iowans for Health Liberty is a coalition of Iowans who support the rights of patients to choose the medical care that is best for them and help them access care without interference from the government. Iowans for Health Liberty values the relationship between patients and providers, honoring each person's unique knowledge to make the best healthcare decisions for their own medical, social, economic, psychological and spiritual well-being.

The Good Trouble Coalition Indiana is a grassroots group of Hoosier healthcare and public health stakeholders who collaborate to educate, empower, and facilitate political advocacy in the areas of patient-centered care, public health, and health equity.

Missouri Healthcare Professionals for Reproductive Rights is a supportive network for healthcare professionals who believe in upholding the autonomy and dignity of their patients and all Missourians' reproductive decision-making. Through education, collaboration and communication the organization seeks to address legislative challenges, policy changes, and societal attitudes that will expand reproductive healthcare access in Missouri.

Idaho Coalition for Safe Healthcare's mission is to ensure Idahoans have safe, legal, and equitable access to evidence-based medical care, that physicians and healthcare professionals are able to provide accepted standards of care, and that healthcare decisions made within a patient-provider relationship are honored and preserved.

Nurses for America is a grassroots group of nurses with diverse specialties and expertise advocating for nursing, democracy, health access and equity, reproductive rights, voting rights, human rights, gun safety, Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, and climate change for a healthy environment.

Families in the Crossfire: Statement on the Alabama Supreme Court's Intrusion into IVF Rights

We are medical professionals from across the United States and we are gravely concerned for our patients' rights and safety. With the fall of Roe v. Wade, our patients are no longer protected from government intrusion into their most private moments.

For the past 20 months, we have seen countless patients and families suffer as necessary healthcare is delayed or denied. We have had to tell our patients "I'm sorry, but I can't help you"—knowing that it is our duty to do so. We've voiced our concerns on local and national stages. We have listened to the profound voices of our patients as we passed citizen-initiated constitutional amendments that protect reproductive healthcare in several states and began this process in many others.

We are dismayed, however, by our government's relentless efforts to dive headfirst into our exam rooms—inserting itself as an ominous regulator in a world where it has no understanding.

The most recent example of this is the Alabama Supreme Court ruling that grants a human embryo—a few cells—the same legal protections as a child. This ruling is an attempt to set a legal precedent of "fetal personhood"—in other words, that a fertilized egg has equivalent rights to a human being, and anything that harms the resultant embryo is equivalent to murder. Establishing this precedent will not only lead to the end of abortion access entirely, but it will make in vitro fertilization (IVF) an impossibility and could even deem some contraceptive options illegal.

The path to building a family is not always straightforward. Many couples and individuals face the silent struggle of infertility and for many, IVF provides a chance to have a biological child. IVF is grueling—it requires months to years and tens of thousands of dollars to pursue. Despite the strenuous journey, anyone who has conceived a child through IVF will likely share that it is nothing short of a miracle. Unfortunately, in Alabama, many peoples' hopes for such a miracle may have been destroyed by their Supreme Court.

Though the Alabama legislature has since passed a bill shielding IVF clinics and providers from criminal or civil liability, this ruling underscores the fundamental problem: government interference into patient care is disastrous for patients. Yet political decisions continue to be made about personal medical issues, at the expense of human health and dignity.

As medical professionals dedicated to the well-being of our patients, we are deeply troubled by this erosion of reproductive rights and government interference into the sacred provider-patient relationship. Our collective plea to policymakers is to safeguard the autonomy of individuals in making their healthcare choices and protect access to reproductive healthcare, like IVF, which offer hope and fulfillment to countless families grappling with infertility.

If you are a medical professional and would like to add your name to this growing list, please do so at www.ohioreprorights.org/saveivf.
